

Volume 2, April 2001 - March 2002

It has been said that art is what makes life worth living, the experience of drawing promises the opening up of an individual's creative and imaginative drive, allowing for the development of a more sensitive and mature whole. The uncovering of the structure of the aesthetic sphere: mind -and-heart, intellect-and-senses, caught in their intrinsic, multi-layered inter relatedness, favors a comprehensive grasp on the fountainhead of creativity, sympathy and awareness. Aesthetic values are perhaps the only ones, which have an in-built capacity to be shared by human beings independently from ethnic identity, ethical and religious conditioning.

Essays

1. Lokesh Chandra
Sharing the Aisles of the Future
2. Anoma Wijewardene
Binding that Divides
3. Elizabeth Rogers
Transhumance: The Hues of Monochrome
4. Nilofur Farruk
South Asian Art, Negotiating a Shared Cultural Frontier
5. Hans Ullrich Obrist Interviews Anri Sala in Paris
(No) Paris No Cry
6. Prajna Paramita Parasher
Analog Language, Digital Voice: Art in Diaspora
7. Alka Pande
Style of the Visible

For further details contact

Visual Arts Gallery,
India Habitat Centre,
Lodhi Road,
New Delhi – 110003
Tel: +(91) 11-43662024 - 25
Fax: +(91) 11-24682010, 24682011
Email: visualartsgallery1@gmail.com